Two Australian libraries implement Relais ILL

Relais International announces that the University of Western Sydney Library (Australia) has implemented Relais ILL as their ILL management system, replacing their RLG ILL Manager system. During the transition period, UWS Library will continue to respond to existing requests within RLG ILL manager, whilst at the same time processing all new requests within the RELAIS ILL system.

Flinders University Library (Adelaide, Australia) has implemented Relais ILL as a hosted service by Relais International. The hosted service includes Relais Access (our Web interface) and the Scanning & Delivery module using the new Relais File Transfer Service.

Relais International is represented in Australia and New Zealand by DA Library Technologies (www.dalibtech.com)
